Pursuant to appointment, Mr. Philip C. Garrett read an obituary notice of the late Pliny Earle Chase, LL.D., a Vice-President of the Society.

This being the stated meeting for the balloting for candidates for membership, an election was held and the following persons were declared to have been duly elected members of the Society :

No. 2145. Prof. Guisèppe Menenghini, Pisà, Italy.

No. 2146. Prof. Edgar F. Smith, Springfield, Ohio.

A paper was presented, through Vice-President Ruschenberger, for the Proceedings, by Alfred B. Taylor, on "Octonary Numeration and its Application to a System of Weights and Measures."

Prof. Cope made some remarks on the "Phylogeny and Classification of the Artiodactyla;" after which Dr. J. Cheston Morris spoke of the remarkable resemblance between Devonshire sheep and goats; that both ewes and bucks had horns, and like the goat they had more than one period of reproduction in the year; that they seemed to be something between sheep and goats.

The President reported that he had received and paid over to the Treasurer the sum of $131.80, being the interest on the Michaux legacy, due October 1, 1887.

On motion of Prof. Snyder, the President was authorized to appoint a committee of three members to inquire into the scientific value of the newly invented language, Volapük, and to report thereon to the Society. [The President subsequently appointed Messrs. D. G. Brinton, Henry Phillips, Jr., and Monroe B. Snyder as the Committee.]

And the Society was adjourned by the President.
